

FOUR COMMON TYPES OF NURSING HOME NEGLECT

Nursing home neglect is when there is any failure by a care giver to fulfill the obligations related to the nursing home residents' care. Though cases involving nursing home neglect vary, there are four main types of nursing home neglect:

1

SOCIAL NEGLECT

Regularly left alone or ignored. This can also lead to injuries if the resident has mobility issues.

2

HYGIENE NEGLECT

Doesn't receive adequate help with laundry, bathing, brushing their teeth, or other hygienic practices.

3

BASIC NEEDS NEGLECT

Denied reasonable food, water, or a safe and clean environment.

4

MEDICAL NEGLECT

Not provided with adequate attention, prevention, or medication for concerns such as bed sores, infections, cuts, diabetes, cognitive diseases, and mobility concerns.
